<h1> Hola! I'm Chio 🖐️ </h1>

Hello World,

My name is Rocío Arenillas and I am a Frontend Developer based in Madrid, specialized in React and user-centered interface development.

I recently completed a Master's degree in Frontend Development and UX/UI, where I worked with technologies such as React, Next.js, Vue, TypeScript, JavaScript, HTML, and CSS, as well as tools like Git, Figma, and Redux. I have built several complete projects involving API consumption, state management, authentication, and responsive design, which are available in my portfolio.

Currently, I am continuing to develop my skills through personal frontend projects, where I am actively working with Firebase for user authentication and database management, strengthening my understanding of full application flows from frontend to backend services.

My profile combines both development and design, allowing me not only to implement interfaces but also to make decisions with a strong focus on user experience.

Before transitioning into tech, I spent over 10 years working in team management and customer-facing roles. In my last position as Immersive Entertainment Manager, I also collaborated directly with web developers to implement website improvements and UX-focused updates, as well as using HTML and CSS to create and customize marketing emails. This experience helped me develop strong communication, problem-solving, and coordination skills across technical and non-technical teams.

Additionally, I hold a C1 level in English and have international experience after living and working in the UK for two years, which allows me to work comfortably in international teams.

I am currently available for immediate start and looking for an opportunity as a Frontend Developer where I can continue growing, contribute from day one, and develop within a collaborative team.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Kind regards,
Rocío Arenillas
